Educational objective and employment opportunities

The Master is designed to join creativity and strategy, design and management, experimentation and tradition, technology and craftsmanship, providing methodological tools and skills to train professionals, with applications ranging from product design to brand management. The Master trains professionals who, with different skills, can contribute to the creative and strategic phases within the fashion accessory sector: from design and collection development to brand management. These figures integrate multidisciplinary skills (design - management - communication), which are in great demand by fashion companies and are usually not covered by traditional academic paths, primarily only oriented towards one disciplinary field. Within the world of fashion accessories, these professionals can lead and coordinate brand management processes, from the declaration of the brand language on the different lines to the planning and development of accessory collections, up to the management of the product communication process.

The professional figures trained by the Master in Fashion Creation: Accessory Design & Management represent the ideal connection between the creative conception of fashion accessories and their integration into the managerial processes. They are junior profiles able to provide qualified support to trend research, product ideation and design, product management & buying, merchandising and pricing, line building, brand management, fashion coordination, licensing management, trade marketing & communication. Furthermore, the different backgrounds of the participants and the teaching activities offered by the Master make it possible to create the conditions for the development of interdisciplinary skills and competencies of creative project management, the ability to dialogue with all the company's areas, and professional figures, both creative and managerial.

The Programme will be delivered in English.

ART. 3
Teaching content and organisation

The Specialising Master’s will start in January 2024 and will end in March 2025.

Today, accessories make fashion. Shoes, jewellery, handbags, and hats are icons of style and taste, symbols of distinction and identity, and witnesses of the made in Italy quality. For this reason, the major fashion brands always give more importance to accessories in their multiple interpretations requiring dedicated professionals. Therefore, the theoretical training in the classroom alternates with case studies and practical activities in the field, leading to the achievement of a fundamental objective: the acquisition of specific methods and techniques to face the world of work. The Master in Fashion Creation: Accessory Design & Management is addressed to junior profiles of a 'hybrid' character, with the ability to combine specific design skills on particular product categories of the accessory supply chain (from jewellery to footwear, handbags, up to eyewear and hats), together with a knowledge of production processes and managerial strategies. The robust specialization is typically acquired after several years of work experience and traditionally not trained within academic courses. The Master represents, therefore, an accelerator of specialized skills, able to make profiles immediately operational in a business context.
